Thinking Out Loud

By H. M. L.

In a large electrical company each employee in 1939 spent six weeks in the service of the tax collectors. Workmen who receive lower pay than the skilled mechanics of this electrical company have to spend more time working for the government. In other words, for a long time under the New Deal, the workers especially, in this country have been drafted for longer or shorter periods in the service of their country. They must find money for taxes to meet the costs of the most extravagant and wasteful government in the history of mankind. The fact that the worker does not wear a uniform and serve in the armed forces for a year, does not alter the inexorable fact that for a certain proportion of time, growing longer every year, he is working for Federal and local governments.

So the draft calling for a year's service of men between the ages of 21 and 36 is really nothing new. The New Deal has drafted us all without a formal proclamation. The time spent in earning taxes for the government, generally speaking, has doubled under the New Deal in a little less than eight years. But even that drastic imposition has not kept pace with the New Deal's spending frenzy.

So those young men who will spend a year in training in their government's armed forces need not feel that they are alone in the sacrafice they are making for their country. Every working person, men, women or children, in this country, has been drafted to spend part of their lives in earning taxes for our government. In Germany, to all practical purposes everyone works for the government the year around and, quite probably the present German generation will continue to do so for the rest of their natural lives. A new definition of totalitarian government might easily be: a government which requires the total time of its total population to support it. Money given to the government in taxes cannot be spent for construction, goods, or services. We get for it values, to be sure, but some of the things we get have cost too much. If for instance the reforms which the New Deal inaugurated had cost half as much as they did, there would have been $10,000,000,000 or more, which the tax payers could have spent for new homes, cars, expenses of educating chidren, and doctor's fees for delivering infants, etc. The United States, now facing vast expenditures for armament, would have been in an extremely prosperous condition instead of traveling swiftly down the road to bankrupcty as is now the case.

Many of the young men about to be called to the colors to serve a year in preparation for national defense, will have to postpone the time when they can build a new home, buy a car, marry their sweetheart, or settle down to their life work. But as a matter of fact the whole country has been drafted to spend longer hours to earn the money which our wasteful government demands of them. Men and women in all walks of life have postponed constructive enterprises. The men withdrawn from private activities, will of course create vacancies in private employment, which persons on relief in some cases can fill. But actually every man withdrawn from productive employment, for whatever the length of time required, whether tax payer or draftee, decreases by that much his ability to contribute by his work to the national wealth. Let us make no mistake. The road we are now following is toward national impoverishment.

It is now imperative that we shall build up our national defense as quickly as possible. We cannot even pause to examine the items of cost. We shall spend, as we have always spent when confronted with a peril to our country, without attempt at reckoning. That will come later. Our children will pay the bill and they will wonder how their fathers could have been so prodigal in spending their patrimony.

The world we live in, measured by any standard of civilization is mad. Force that we thought to banish by World War No. 1, has risen to confront all democracies with a challenge, not only

Buildings Will Rise From Ashes

No Time Lost In Rehabilitating Damage Caused By Monday Fire

New buildings are to rise from the ashes of the Narrow Gauge Railroad depot in Grass Valley and the adjoining Colfax Fruit Exchange packing shed and poultry producers association headquarters, which were all destroyed by fire early Monday morning.

Work on the Colfax Fruit Exchange building has already started and the railroad company expects soon to erect a depot and station for Train Dispatcher Robert Paine. The new depot and dispatcher's station will not be as large as the historic building destroyed.

The main offices of the Narrow Gauge Company will be moved to the terminal on Bank Steet in Old Chinatown.

It is beleieved the loss by the fire may even exceed the first estimate of $50,000. In addition irreplacable records of the railroad company were destroyed, including the original contract, written in longhand in 1876, between the postoffice and Narrow Gauge for the carrying of mail by the railroad. Also destroyed was a picture of John Kidder, former president and general manager of the railroad and other valuable photographs.

The largest damage was to the fruit exchange shed and poultry producers headquarters, where tons of hay and poultry feed was stored in addition to a large amount of fruit packing machinery.

Business As Usual

The fire did not interrupt the service to the public of either the railroad or the fruit exchange and poultry producers association. The day after the fire carpenters began work on new buildings while a crew of workmen was employed in clearing away debris.

Daniel Dawson, 33, who was picked up at the fire on suspicion, is believed by the Grass Valley police to have no connection with the case. Dawson, however, is being held on a vagrancy charge to which he has pleaded not guilty.

MANY ATTEND FINAL RITES FOR T. HADDY

Scores of sorrowing friends and relatives yesterday afternoon attended the final rites at the Holmes Funeral Home for Thomas J. Haddy, 65, prominent resident of this city who died at his home Monday.

Rev. H. Thomas Pateman of the Trinity Episcopal Church conducted the services at the chapel. The grave side services were held under the direction of the local Odd Fellows Lodge.

The deceased was prominently affiliated with the local Elks and Odd Fellows. He was a past president of the Mine Workers Protective League.

Native of Michigan

Haddy, a resident of Nevada City since 1909, was a native of Michigan. He was a miner and became so skilled he was elevated to the position of shift boss at the Hoge Mine and then became foreman of that property.

Arthur Hoge, Sr., president of the Hoge Development Company, praised Haddy's ability. "He was a good miner and a fine man," Hoge said.

Haddy leaves his wife, Hazel, two sons, Lloyd and Marvin, both of this city and a brother, Alfred H. Haddy of Nevada City.

The pallbearers at the funeral were:

Cary S. Arbogast and John Darke, Odd Fellows Lodge; Alvin Walthers and Arthur Hoge, Jr., Elks Lodge; Frank X Ducotey and Darrell Kitts, Mine Workers Protective League.

The cards were sent out to the registrars last week but many have not yet returned them. McCormack said it is necessary for him to make a report to the governor immediately on final arrangements for the selective service registration.

Registration will be in all of the 42 precincts in the county. The booths will be open from 7 a. m. until 9 p. m. next Wednesday only.

Hearing Is Waived By Wm. Haines

Alpha Store Robbery Suspect Indicates He Will Plead Guilty

William Haines, 18, arrested in Reno, Nev., on a charge of burglarizing the Alpha Store here, yesterday waived his preliminary hearing when brought before Justice of the Peace Charles Morehouse of Grass Valley Township, acting for Justice George Gildersleeve, who is ill.

Haines told Undersheriff William D. Woods he would plead guilty to the burglary when arraigned in the superior court.

The burglary case defendant freely admitted to Sheriff Carl J. Tobiassen and Chief of Police Max Solaro, who went to Reno to return him here to face the charge, that he broke into the Alpha Store. The loot including several rifles, knives, silverware, suitcases, 10 pounds of giant powder, two boxes of caps and two coils of fuse, was recovered and returned to the Alpha.

Powder Stolen

Because he believed "there would not be any money around", Haines overlooked $15 in the cash register.

Sheriff Tobiassen said Haines was taken into custody for burglarizing the same store four years ago. At that time he was sentenced to reform school.

Haines was taken into custody in Reno when he attempted to trade a rifle for a pistol in a pawn shop. Local officers had notified Reno authorities to be on the lookout for the stolen goods.

Officers report entrance into the store was gained through an upper story window in the rear of the building.

Haines, who is held in the county jail here, has a wife and infant child living in Reno.

GOVERNOR OLSON NAMES COUNTY DRAFT BOARDS

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 10.—(UP)—Gov. Culbert Olson today announced members of the 338 draft boards in California, who will serve without pay in administering the selective service conscription program.

The committees must be confirmed by President Roosevelt but acceptance was expected wtihout delay. The names were chosen chiefly by superior court judges in each county, with the assistance of the draft headquarters in Sacramento.

After men from 21 to 36 years of age register on October 16, the names of those conscripted will be turned over to the local boards for determined of deferred persons and appeals. One physician will serve with each board and any cases he chooses not to decide will be referred to an advisory medical board of seven specialists. There will be one advisory board for each 600,000 population.

Chief duty of the local boards will be to study the detailed questionnaires filled out by conscripts to determine such questions as dependents, employment, fitness for military service, and health.

The committee for Nevada county consists of R. L. Bigelow, H. M. Leete and Dr. W. J. Hawkins of Nevada City and James C. Tyrrell and John J. Looser of Grass Valley.

The Selective Service Board for Nevada County held a meeting in the courthouse in Nevada City this afternoon, naming a permanent chairman and a secretary.

The board hopes to obtain permanent quarters in the courthouse here. Each board member took an oath of allegiance to the constitution of the United States.

WILLKIE MEN HELD MEETING HERE TUESDAY

A meeting was held at the Willkie For President Headquarters here Tuesday night, the purpose of which was to coordinate the efforts and programs of the various organizations of Nevada County which are working for the election of Willkie and McNary.

The meeting, which was presided over by H. P. Davis, cordinating chairman of the Willkie Volunteers in Northern California, included Republican County Central Committeemen Elton Williams, James Tyrrell, Stuart Chalmers, Frank Bennallack, Robert Paine, Myers Mobley and Fred Cassidy.

Charles Ingram, who has been appointed secretary of the Willkie Volunteers of Grass Valley, of which organization Mr. Bennallack is chairman, and Mrs. Charles Parsons, who is chairman of the women's committee of Willkie workers, were also present.

Further meetings are to be held to complete the coordination of various Willkie campaign programs in Nevada County.

FIRE CHIEF LUTHER MARSH URGES CLEANUP OF DEBRIS

As part of National Fire Prevention Week, Fire Chief Luther Marsh today urged Nevada City residents to clean up debris about their homes; inspect their chimneys, pointing out most of the fires here are caused by faulty chimneys or spontaneous combustion in accumulations of debris..

Fire Chief Marsh's statement reads:

"October 6 to 12 is a week set aside to stop and think about the causes of fire and methods of preventing them. According to statistics there is a house fire every two minutes in the United States and 18 people are burned to death every day.

"There are many causes of fire but most of them could be avoided by being careful. Faulty wiring and defective chimneys are one of the main causes with spontaneous combustion a close follow up.

"Two and maybe three recent fires in Nevada Clty are credited to spontaneous combustion by the fire department, one by the sun shining on broken glass near a garbage can surrounded by dry grass, two by the sparks from another house fire lighting among dry leaves on the roof, another early morning fire in a clothes closet—thus indicating the spontaneous combustion.

"From August, 1938 to August 1939 the Nevada City fire department answered more than 80 calls of which 60 were chimney fires thus calling attention to the fact that dirty chimneys are our most potential fire hazard especially during the cold weather.

"Nevada City at present has a pretty good record with the fire underwriters so letus all try to keep it that way and observe Fire Prevention Week by cleaning up the accumulation of papers, rugs, cast off clothing, old lumber, boxes and crates which may have accumulated in attics, basements or garages; dry grass or brush in the back yard and inspecting our chimneys and wiring."

Downieville Highway 40 Percent Completed

Work On Road Is Being Done Entirely By State Crew Under Supervision of Engineer Irish; $35,000 Remains Of Allocation

The improvement in the Downieville highway leading into and out of the South Yuba gorge is now about 40 per cent complete according to A. C. Irish State Highway engineer in charge of the work. All told the work embraces about 4 miles of some of the crookedest and most dangerous sections of the famous "Mae West" road.

On the north side of the gorge about a mile of the road has been fully completed and given a two and half inch covering of oiled gravel similar to that along the Tahoe Ukiah Highway. But this new section of road will be about five feet wider than the Tahoe Ukiah. The kinks and hairpin curves in the road have been eliminated.

Owing to the steepness of the gorge, huge quantities of granite, both decomposed and in boulders, had to be removed. A ten foot widening in the road, for instance, would mean the removal, of thousands of cubic yards of material above. This vast tonnage was utilized to build up the outer edge of the road and to fill in the curves.

Done By State Crews

The entire work is being done by state highway crews at a cost, estimated to be slghtly under the ordinary contract rates. All the equipment belongs to the state except a steam shovel which is rented. Huge bull dozers take the debris dynamited from the towering banks and push it along with the many boulders down into the Yuba Canyon. The road out of the canyon to the north will soon be ready for its oiled gravel surfacing. Work has been well started on the road along the south wall of the canyon. In some places new short sections are being constructed to eliminate the sharp turns.

Of the $81,000 alloted to the South Yuba road improvement, there still remains about $35,000 to be expended. Mr. Irish states that the work is about 40 per cent complete, and that he hopes to have it entirely completed by the first of the year.

Recommendation Adopted

The highway committee of the State Chamber of Commerce has adopted the recommendations of the Nevada City Chamber of Commerce that seven more miles between Nevada City and North San Juan be improved at an estimated cost of $150,000.

The recommendations for highway improvements in Nevada County, which will be pressed before the State Highway Commission are as follows:

1. Reconstruction of sections of Grass Valley-Auburn highway (total job $630,000) Nevada City portion, estimated cost $450,000.

1a Reconstruction of sections between Nevada City and Grass Valley. Estimated cost $75,000.

2 Reconstructon section through Bear Valley on new alignment, minor improvements (entire job $300,000.) Estimated cost $10,000.

3 Continuation of improvements, Nevada City to San Juan 7 miles. Estimated cost $150,000.

4 Realignment, section of route 20, Grass Valle to Smartsville, 12 miles. Estimated cost $300,000.

Hydraulic Miners To Meet Sat.

Many Important Matters To Be Considered At G. V. Gathering

An important meeting of the California Hydraulic Mining Association will be held at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon in the Bret Harte Inn in Grass Valley.

Secretary W. W. Esterly said many controversial measures will be discussed and members of other organizations besides the hydraulic miners will attend the meeting in an endeavor to straighten out several problems.

Esterly said there will also be interesting information concerning the debris dams announced at the meeting.

Discussion of the hunting and fishing problem in regard to mining will be taken up.

May Post Property

"With several of our largest operators entering into discussions with various members concerning the many depredations of those hunters and fishermen who are allowed the privileges of using the areas within the holdings of the mining companies," Esterly stated, "it is possible that some action will be taken individually by most of the mining groups to not only post their properties against all sportsmen, but to take legal action against offenders.

"Many instances were cited at a recent meeting where serious and costly damage was caused by those who were either camping, hunting or fishing on mining property.

Threat to Dredger

"Also, recently the County of Sacramento, through Chief Deputy District Attorney J. Francis O'Shea, has threatened the Irish Creek Dredging Company on a complaint issued from Roy W. Sullivan, secretary of the Carmichael Irrigation District.

"Sullivan complains that the river, from which the district obtains its domestic and irrigating water supply, is carrying heavy quantities of debris from the mining company's mining operations on Johnstown Creek, near Coloma, El Dorado County, which empties into the South Fork of the American River.

"The continual nuisance or harassing effect of these roiling actions are also being unfavorably discussed, and it is possible that a concerted effort may materialize whereby the people using this water will be shown the difference between roiling the water by gravel mining and pollution of this same water pathogenically by the many sewage and other disease breeding conditions existing and not connected in any manner with mining activities."

CYO GROUP MAY BE FORMED IN THIS AREA

Realizing the need of organizations of the younger group of boys and girls in the Nevada City-Grass Valley area, the Knights of Columbus Council has announced a plan of sponsoring a Catholic Youth Organization.

According to the plan outlined by Milton Fisher, G. K., the program will be conducted in the following manner: Four clubs will be formed, two for the older boys and girls and two for the youngsters. The clubs will be self-governing, electing officers and arranging for their socials and other activities. The entire oragnization will be helped and governed by the Sacramento C. Y. O. laws and activities.

Papa Is President

The appointment of Elliott Roosevelt to a swivel chair captaincy in the U. S. Army air corps reserve is a direct slap in the face to 16,500,000 American young men who will register for the draft on October 16.

Charles C. McGonegal of San Francisco, World War hero, wearer of the Order of the Purple Heart and a man who left both his hands on the battle fields of France, made this declaration today discussing what he termed was the "latest effort to create a Roosevelt dynasty in America."

McGonegal received the wounds that cost him his hands in the Tour sector on February 3, 1918, when he was a buck private in B Company. 18th Infantry, First Division, A. E. F. However, with two steel hooks for hands McGonegal has won business success, flies an airplane, drives a car, shaves, and dresses himself.

"The action of President Roosevelt in allowing his son to be commissioned over the heads of other young men who will have to take their chances in the draft is reminiscent of the nobility of Europe with its inherited military titles," Mcgonegal said.

"With democracy throughout the world engaged in a death struggle, the head of the government of the greatest democracy on the face of the earth allows his son to be placed in a cushy job on the eve of the draft.

"It was not long ago that Jimmie Roosevelt was made a colonel in the Marine Corps. Now it is Elliott who is commissioned.

"Such actions are detrimental to the morale of the young men who are ready and willing to take their chances in the army.

"How will those young men feel when they are bossed and given orders by a youth with no qualifications as an officer other than the fact his father is President?"

Dynasty or Democracy-Which?

"No business is above government," said Candidate-President Roosevelt in recent address before a convention. That depends on what he means by "above" and "business." Business is carried on by industrious, enterprising citizens, by people. While no single business is "above government" collectively, business, like the people who run it, supports the government. Every business in its ownership annd management and operation, is part and parcel of the great body of the people, and the people are above the government, above Presidents whom they elect, above Congresses and courts.

But the remark is significant in that it betrays the latent —often overt—hostility of the candidate-President to business. What would become of government without business? It takes business to feed, clothe and house the citizens, to produce and pay the stupendous amounts of taxes without which government would have to shut up shop, to provide the cash in the Treasury to pay the President's salary check. The simple, blunt truth is that government is abjectly dependent on business and on prosperous business at that. Hence the real issue in this campaign, as it concerns domestic affairs, turns on which candidate is best qualified to administer government for prosperity in buisness.

The President-candidate is the child of wealth and luxury. He was born to and chadled in affluence. His chief occupation through life has been politics. This is not said to affront, belittle or stigmatize. It is a statement of the fact. Wendell Willkie, like most of our successful men, came up from the grass roots. He was born in poverty. He became inured to penury and hardship. He worked with his hands. He put himself through college. He climbed the ladder in the world of business and reached the top.

Now, confronting exigencies fundamentally economic and industrial, which candidate is the better qualified? Our national administration is the biggest business on earth. Shall we elect a tried and tested business executive, or re-elect the titular head of a bureaucratic political dynasty?—Contributed.

JUST WONDERIN'

I wonder at the happy lot
Of those who write a daily column;
Who scan events as they occur,
The tragic, gay or deeply solemn,
And straightway to their desks repair
To write about them, then and there.

I wonder if editorial writers, daily columnists et al, wholly appreciate the privileges they enjoy, or understand the degree of envy they excite in once a weeklies like me.

Think of it—all day they have to do is select a colorful subject from the maze of passing events, sit down composedly and write constuctive, admonitory or amusing articles for the delight of the reading public. But is it as easy as that?

This question is answered in the negative whenever we pause to consider our newspapers and the studendous amount of work involved in their compilation, publication and distrbiution. After even a sketchy survey of the newspaper world we turn to our own affairs with a greatly increased admiration and respect for editors, reporters and many others who toil unremittently, discounting long arduous hours of concentrated effort, inconvenience, even danger in order to fulfill their responsibilities to the reading public and keep the free press of America up to its unrivaled standard of journalistic excellence.

All honor to the free press of America. High honor to the men and women who contribute to its power and prestige, and a deeper appreciation for both upon the part of the public which is served. Your favorite newspaper is more than a breakfast table diversion—more than an after dinner adjunct to relaxation. It is an integral part of a great bulwark which the foes of our democracy shall not prevail. Dictators? There will never be one in America until the free press of America has ceased to exist; and that time will never come.

I wonder if Mussolini has appraised our American mentality at its par value. He thinks that we are very unintelligent creatures, with no knowledge of history, or the trend of modern events. Now Mussolini, we all know what happened to Alexander, Napoleon and all the other knaves who bit and chewed most voraciously but were utterly unable to digest their kill or assimiliate it.

I wonder what fate Hitler has prepared for his little playmates, the Japanese, when his Aryanically pure universe has been at length brutally composed and stabilized.

Uncle Silas says: "Have you noticed that "outstanding" has joined the clan of words of all work. Everything is "outstanding" now from presidential aspirants to the latest brand of dog food. It's a shame to make one lone word cover so much territory."

Mr. Willkie contends he has the necessary facts to prove his contention that the New Deal program has failed in its effort to solve unemployment—our biggest and most important problem."—Lodi Times.

If ever there was a time when the country needed a man of the Willkie type and can ill afford to have a man of the Roosevelt type in the White House, that time is now."—Petaluma Argus-Courier.

to liberty, but to life itself. We shall all make sacrifices to preserve our country, giving services. time or money to government. We must stand solidly, as one man, against the foe which now encircles us.

But we still have the right to say who shall lead us in this battle. This writer believes that under Wendell Willkie, a business man, we shall not only affect a more efficient defense but that it will cost us less than it would under President Roosevelt, who nonchallantly declared at a recent press conference that he was not interested in how the money was raised.

From 1933 to 1939 federal collections increased 195 per cent.

THURMAN HEADS PROBE OF FISH AND GAME BOARD

By NEWTON STEARNS
United Press Staff Coresspondent

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 10.—(UP)—Three new legislative investigations were organized during the week as an aftermath of the recent special session.

Two of the probes were authorized specifically by the special session for the purpose of studying expenditures of fish and game funds and construction operations at the new Chino state prison.

The third involves something of a forward pass procedure. Two special sessions ago—there have been four so far this year—the lawmakers called for an investigation of circumstances surrounding the Silver-Burdette textbook contract, which has been a point of controversy in the state department of education for three years.

The assembly governmental efficiency committee, chairmaned by Don A. Allen, of Los Angeles, was designated to carry out the investigation. Allen announced recently, however, that the project was being abandoned because of lack of information and insufficient time of the committee members.

The senate governmental efficiency committee then picked up the matter, on the basis of a general authorization by the legislature to study governmental matters during the interim between sessions. Senator R. W. Hays, chairman of this group, said the investigation will be started as witnesses can be lined up and facts in the case gathered together.

The Silver-Burdette language series was selected by the state board of education three years ago despite the fact the series was rated inferior by the state curriculum commission and the Silver-Burdette price of $181,000 was $50,000 above the bid for the series recommended by the curriculum group.

Dr. Walter F. Dexter, state superintendent of public instruction, refused to sign the contract but finally was ordered to do so by the state supreme court. The controversy is still raging, however, over the question of whether to print the books and distribute them to the schools of the state.

Assemblyman Allen G. Thurman, of Colfax, was named chairman of the committee to study fish and game expenditures. The immediate basis for this investgiation was dissatisfaction among some members of the legislature with dismissal of Lester A. McMillan as executive officer of the fish and game commission.

McMillan was ousted by the commission after publicly criticizing commission members for using state-owned patrol boats. The commissioners said they were aboard the boats ony for official meetings and inspectoins, while McMillan referred to the trips as "junkets."

Other members of Thurman's committee are Harrison W. Call, of Redwood City; Jacob Leonard, Hollister; Rodney Turner, Delano and Thomas Doyle, Los Angeles.

The committee to investigate construction of Chino state prison is headed by Assemblyman James H. Phillips, Oakland, and includes T. Fenton Knight, Pasadena; Earl D. Desmond, Sacramento; Frank Waters, Jr., Los Angeles, and Godfrey A. Andreas, Upland.

This probe was ordered because of charges by legislators that the new prison is being built as a "maximum" security institution, complete with heavy stone walls and steel cell blocks, despite the declared intention of the legislature that it was to be merely a "farm" for youthful offenders.

RETURN OF FRANK JAMES ON LOCAL SCREEN SUNDAY

Filmed in spectacular Technicolor the exciting and stirring climax to the daring exploits of the world's most famous outlaws comes to the screen of the Nevada Theatre Sunday in the 20th Centur Fox production, "The Return of Frank James."

The millions of moviegoers who thrilled to last year's "Jesse James" will find this new Darryl F. Zanuck production even more colorful and action packed. These same millions will also find many familiar faces in the cast, for "Jesse James" players fill most of the important roles.

Henry Fonda, who created the part of Frank James, Jesse's grim older brother, is cast in the title role. Others appearing in the production, who were also featured in "Jesse James" include Henry Hull, John Carradine, J. E. Bromberg, Donald Meek, Ernest Whitman, Charles Tannen and George Chandler.

The cast is completed by Gene Tierney and Jackie Cooper, who are featured, and such popular favorites as Eddie Collins and George Barbier.

Tse story of "The Return of Frank James" is the story of Frank's determination to avenge the cowardly murder of his brother Jesse, shot in the back by the traitorous Ford Brothers. Railroad money paid the Fords, and a gubernatorial pardon set the Fords free after a jury had convicted them, so Frank realizes the only way he can revenge Jesse is to return to outlawry.

Agricultural imports in the fiscal year 1939 were $2,079,000,000 compared to $1,730,000,000 in 1932, an increase of 20 per cent.

Charges and counter charges flew back and forth during the week following resignation of Deputy Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan, son of the late Frank C. Jordan who served as secretary of state for 29 years.

Following the elder Jordan's death last January, Governor Olson appointed as his successor Paul Peek who had just been deposed as speaker of the assembly by the anti-administration legislative coalition. Olson announced, however, that Frank M. Jordan would be retained as deputy because of the governor's long friendship for his father.

In submitting his resignation, Jordan charged he was being forced out of office despite the governor's promise, to which Olson replied that the deputy was campaigning, while working under Peek, for his own election as secretary of state in 1942.

TAHOE FOREST HAS 11 FIRES IN TEN DAYS

Eleven fires broke out in the Tahoe National Forest area during the past ten days, Dispatcher Ellwood M. Stone revealed today.

Of the 11 blazes, 8 were caused by lightning and three were man caused.

Stone reports after October 10th approximately 25 per cent of the fire protective force in the Tahoe forest will be transferred to road, trail building and maintenance work, the remaining 75 per cent carrying on until the next big storm reduces the fire danger.

The fire dispatcher says although the hazards of the fire season have abated somewhat burning permits are still necessary until December first.

WAR MINERALS ARE DEFINED

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 10—(UP)—Ever wonder exactly what is meant by a "strategic" mineral of a "critical" materials?

These are State Mineralogist Walter W. Bradley's definitions for the often used but not so often understood terms:

Strategic minerals are those essential to national defense where dependence must be placed in whole or in part on sources, outside the United States. They include antimony, chromite, managanese, mica, nickel, quartz crystals, quicksilver, tin and tungsten

Critical materials (essential to national defense but either less essental or more easily obtainable) include aluminum, asbestos, graphite, iodine, optical glass, phenol, platinum, titanium, toluol and vanadium.

Essential materials (capable of becoming in emergency, critical or strategic) include beylliuh cobalt, magnesium, molybdenum, uranium, ziconium, acetone, ethel alcohol, sulphuric acid, copper, lead, zinc, abraisives petroleum refractories and others.

California, Bradley says, is important source of strategic minerals vital to the national defense program such as quicksilver tungsten, managanese, chromite and antimony; and critical minerals such as iodine, platinum, and titanium.

OFFICIALS FIND DRAFT DUTY NO BED OF ROSES

By JOHN W. DUNLAP
United Press Staff Correspondent

SACRAMENTO, Oct. 10—(UP)—The business of registering 965,000 Californians under the selective service program has turned out to be no bed of roses for the state officials who are charged with carrying it out.

It has been no easy task getting a plan of such magnitude ready to function in time for the October 16 national registration day, and there have been innumerable complications.

John W. Dunlap.

Remarkable cooperation has been received, however, from nearly all persons and organizations who have been called on to assist in the program—most of them without pay—and as a result there is every prospect that the routine will go through without a hitch so far as California is concerned.

Under terms of the national conscription act, most of the details of the draft are the direct responsibility of Gov. Culbert Olson. His right hand man in carrying out the program is Adjutant General R. E. Mittelstaedt, who has the additional title of state director of the selective service program.

The most difficult part of the huge assignment was selection of suitable personnel for a total of 283 three-man draft boards to operate in the state. These boards are to study the questionnaires filed by men within the conscription age range of 21 to 35 and determine which men are to be called first for the year's training provided for in the act.

Superior judges in the various counties were asked to recommend appointments to the boards, and this in itself caused complications. Leading democrats in counties where republican judges were appointed objected to the governor placing arrangements for the draft in hands of their political opponents.

In addition, the governor received more than 3000 letters from individuals throughout the state who applied for membership on the draft boards. Each of these was acknowledged by the governor's office and referred back to the superior judge in whose county the applicant was located.

There were also a large number of applications for salaried jobs in connection with the program. Approximately 800 persons sought positions as clerks of the local boards. These were advised that each of the boards will select its own clerk. Another 1500 persons applied for clerical employment in the state headquarters of the selective service organization and were informed that all such employes would be taken from federal civil service rolls.

Incidentally, the clerk's position is the only one involved in operation of the local boards that carries a salary.

One headache was caused by failure of some of the superior judges to keep their recommendations for draft board appointments confidential. The list of proposed appointments and alternates has been made public in some localities and this will cause some embarrassment to those invoived if the personnel is changed for any reason by the governor or President Roosevelt, who must give final approval.

The governor's office has received quite a number of complaints against particular persons recommended by some of the judges and each of these is being investigated. Also, the governor's staff is examining the lists to see that they are truly representative of the community, and particularly that labor groups are represented.

Superior Judge Pierson Hall of Los Angeles county had the largest job of any of the judges in making selections for 107 boards in his county—more than one-third of the entire state total. The governor's office said that in addition to recommending three principals and three alternates, he had each person checked as to his criminal record and credit rating before forwarding the names to Sacramento.

The state bar association cooperated in recommending appeal agents, one for each of the 283 draft boards, and a similar number of medical examiners were proposed by the California medical association. All will serve without pay.

The medical association also made recommendations for 20 nine-man medical appeal boards to operate in the various parts of the state. Twenty boards to hear appeals for deferment were recommended by the American legion, which also is assigning advisory committees of 30 men in each of the local areas to assist individuals in registering and filling out their questionnaires.

THE LIFE OF WENDELL WILLKIE - - - - - - - - From the Willkie Volunteers in Northern California

Wendell Willkie's university career was a process of earn and learn, a combination of college and the school of hard knocks. It took him almost seven years to complete his college course because he had to take time out to work. One of his jobs was as cook.

He worked as a harvest hand in Minnesota and it was there he became interested in farming to the point that as soon as he was able he had a farm of his own. In the hot grain fields of the Middle West he got first-hand information on large-scale agriculture.

When he returned to school after seeing some of the seamy side of life he became something of a campus orator affecting a turtleneck sweater and a liberal viewpoint. He harangued students from a soapbox and became leader of non-fraternity men.

After a bit more schooling back he went again into the school of labor. He strayed into the oil fields of Texas and Wyoming where black gold booms were newly started. He labored as a driller, pipe man, at any job he could get and learned all about oil.

PLACERVILLE AND NEVADA CITY WILL BATTLE ON LOCAL GRIDIRON

Two Teams, Evenly Matched Expected to Put Up Good Game For Nevada City Football Enthusiasts

The Nevada City Yellowjackets A squad will tangle with the El Dorado High School of Placerville and the local B team will meet the Grass Valley B Reserves on the Nevada City High School gridiron Saturday afternoon. The B game will start at 1 p. m. with the A contest following immediately thereafter.

A large attendance of local supporters of the Yellowjackets is hoped for at the game as the contest is one of the few home games of the year.

The game is expected to be a close battle. Both teams lost to Placer Union High School. Placer downed el Dorado by three touchdowns. The Nevada City eleven lost to Placer by two touchdowns.

Practicing Nights

The Yellowjackets have been practicing every night this week in preparation for the battle with Placerville. Coach Ed Frantz is attempting to improve the team on offense.

The probable starting lineup for the Yellowjackets will be Marvin Haddy and Joe Widauf at the end spots; Kenneth Worthley and Bob Famer at the tackle posts; Norman Ronnigen and Harry Roberts, the guards; Ben Barry, center; Bill Muscardini and Floyd Ruth in the halfback positions; Allen Spracklen at fullback and George Phillips at quarterback.

The Grass Valley High School and Roseville Union High School A and B football teams meet tomorrow night at Hennessy Field in Grass Valley in Foothill League games.

The B game will start promptly at 6 o'clock and the A game at eight o'clock.

Roseville boasts a good record so far this season and Grass Valley has lost one game. The Miners dumped Oroville 12 to 0 last Saturday night, indicating they are in good form.

"Milestone Car" Presented to Contest Winners

Presentation of Chevrolet's "Milestone Car"—the 1,000,000th 1940 model produced by the industry's leader—was made at the New York World's Fair last week to Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Weinert (shown here), of Iron Mountain, Mich., owners of the millionth Chevrolet six-cylinder model, built in 1929. The Weinerts were winners of a nation-wide contest conducted by Chevrolet to locate No. 1,000,000. As guests of Chevrolet, the Michigan couple drove to New York, arriving at the Fair with more than 110,000 miles on their '29 car, which Weinert had purchased as a used car, at a price of $25. M. E. Coyle (left), general manager of Chevrolet, presented the new 1940 Special De Luxe model to the Weinerts. Chevrolet's production of a million units this year maintains a seven-year record of a million a year average, with the 1,000,000th 1940 car following No. 900,000 by exactly one month. The well-traveled 1929 model has been returned to Detroit, where it will be placed on display.

She was observed entering the local Masonic Hall where the local Womens Club were practicing for a bazaar they are giving next Saturday. However, it proved to be J. B. Bennett, one of the local CCC boys who had quietly made up as a woman, with a blonde wig, make up, a white waist, and a dark dress with half socks, and proceeded to take in the town.

"Dad, why can't I have a room of my own?"

Have you ever been asked a question like this? Have you ever wished you had more room for living? Have you hesitated because of the cost?

But do you know that remodeling may pay for itself—in larger resale value, higher rent, better refinancing. For instance—

. . . a third bedroom added to a five-room house may add as much as 10% to the house value.

. . . an extra bedroom or other useful room may bring as much as $10.00 a month more rent.

These facts are explained in a book of interesting ideas, "How to Modernize and Make It Pay." We have a copy for you. Come to our office today while the supply lasts!

Sofge, assistant secretary of the Tahoe-Pacific Highway 20 Association, recently formed to promote the resources of the Tahoe-Ukiah Highway, will submit the communications to the booster organization at its next meeting.

The letter from Englebright read: "I received your letter of recent date with further reference to the Tahoe-Ukiah Highway and as I advised you, I have the matter under consideration by the various governmental agencies here in Washington which may have jurisdiction.

"The Secretary of War has written me concerning my further inquiry in the matter and to keep you advised, I am enclosing his letter dated October 1.

"You may rest assured of my every cooperation in the matter, and I will keep you informed of any new developments from this end."

The letter from Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson read in part:

"The War Department is interested in the development of highways for national defense purposes. However, its interest is limited to insuring adequate highway facilities between important strategic points. The designation and construction of highway projects is a matter within the jurisdiction of the Public Roads Administration, Federal Works Agency, and in order to encourage construction of highways of military value, the War Department works in close collaboration with that agency in an advisory manner only.
